OKANAGAN (ARMSTRONG)
BUSINESS WEBSITE
SECURITY & PRIVACY ANALYSIS

Non-Secure HTTP vs. Secure HTTPS - Older websites that feature a HTTP prefix in the web address are non-secure and hazardous to the general public. Cyber criminals can insert malicious codes into connections between online visitors and non-secure websites. They hack breach and lock up computer networks, steal sensitive information, corrupt websites and change passwords in exchange for ransom.

Modern web browsers warn visitors about potentially non-secure HTTP websites for security. Non-secure sites have low Google Search rankings, hampering marketing efforts. Bad web experiences create avoidance and warnings to others. Negative ratings and privacy concerns undermine business growth.

Website Privacy Policy - Required by Law

(British Columbia Personal Information Protection Act - PIPA)

Private sector privacy legislation requires organizations to build privacy policies that outline how they collect, use and disclose their customers' personal information. It also means that a privacy policy should be posted on a website if that organization has one. It must include what information is collected, why it is collected and how it is disclosed and discontinues made via the website itself. Website visitors must be advised of all online information practices, notably the use of "cookies" or other non-visible tracking tools.
